

For Immediate Release

CROZIER

Crozier Announces Joseph Carlucci as New Head of Sales & Marketing

New York, November 21, 2016 - Crozier is pleased to announce the appointment of Joe Carlucci as its new Head of Sales & Marketing. Mr. Carlucci joins Crozier from Sotheby's, where he served as Head of Private Sales, Americas with additional prior experience at Christie's and Phillips auctioneers.

"Joe is an exceptional match for this role, with extensive sales and leadership experience in the fine arts space," explained Simon Hornby, President and Chief Executive Officer of Crozier. "Adding Joe to the Crozier leadership team will allow us to focus on accelerating revenue growth, expanding market share, and enhancing our position as a global leader in art storage and services."

Mr. Carlucci will lead Crozier's project management and sales teams, where his responsibilities will include developing and driving a comprehensive sales, market development and marketing strategy.

In addition to his fine arts sales experience, Mr. Carlucci has held sales and sales-related roles in the financial services industry, including positions at Nomura, Goldman Sachs and Credit Suisse. He holds a Bachelor of Arts from the University at Albany, State University of New York. He is a member of the Metropolitan Museum of Art Apollo Circle and is a guest lecturer at Sotheby's Institute of Art.

About Crozier

Based in New York, Crozier is a leader in art storage and an industry advocate for worldwide standards. A division of Iron Mountain Incorporated (NYSE: IRM), Crozier provides services that support the art management lifecycle, from initial purchase to final sale, including secure storage, climate-controlled vaults, viewing areas, consultation, installation and project management services, and international shipping capabilities for art industry professionals and collectors all over the world. For more information, visit www.crozierarts.com.

Media Contact

For additional information, images, or to request an interview, please contact:
Andy Cushman or Kat Mills

Blue Medium, Inc.
acushman@bluemedium.com / kat@bluemedium.com
+1 (212) 675-1800